STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Our country, which has the world's highest and the most spectacular mountains, is also fortunate to be blessed with one of the world's most extensive and fertile plains, made up of alluvial soil brought down in the form of fine silt by the mighty rivers. Ironically, over the centuries depth of the basins of the rivers have continuously decelerated owing to concentration of alluvial soil and sand on these rivers' beds. Due to narrowing of the rivers' basins by silts, devastation by floods have become a recurring feature during the excess water flow in every monsoon season inundating vast parts of the country and, due to the decreasing water catchment capacity of the rivers, precious water has been compelled to be drain out into the ocean. Moreover, due to obstructions to seamless water flows caused by sediments deposited in the river beds, mighty rivers like the Ganges and the Brahmaputra have been changing their course by way of eroding the river banks in many of their catchment areas especially during every monsoon season for the last several years. Recent notable instance among them is the continuous erosion of banks in the course of the river Ganges along Murshidabad and Maldah in West Bengal where the River is seen to be progressively advancing towards Bangladesh obliterating the existing geographical boundary between the two countries.

The problem of silt accumulation in rivers' beds is poised to multiply as no concrete steps to tackle it have been sincerely attempted so far. Desiltation of rivers will not only augment their water conservation capacity but will also facilitate much cheaper mode of transportation of goods and passengers on the waterways and the exercise will result in creation of huge employment opportunities, particularly for the unskilled people in rural areas along side the rivers.

This Bill seeks to establish a Rivers Desiltation Authority which will take appropriate steps for planning and implementing strategy for desiltation of rivers in the country in order that water resources can be managed fruitfully, occurrences of floods can be controlled and waterways can be harnessed for yielding economic benefits to the society, including large employment generation.

Hence this Bill.

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

Clause 3 of the Bill seeks to establish the Rivers Desiltation Authority. It is estimated that a sum of Rupees one hundred crore will be required from the Consolidated Fund of India initially to set up the Authority. A sum of Rupees ten crore per year will also be required to meet the recurring expenditure.

No non-recurring expenditure is likely to be involved.

MEMORANDUM REGARDING DELEGATED LEGISLATION

Clause 6 of the Bill gives power to the Central Government to frame rules for carrying out the purposes of this Act. The rules will relate to matters of details only. The delegation of legislative power is, therefore, of normal character.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Various parts of the country are inundated by floods and devastations by other natural disasters namely, super-cyclone, earthquake, cloudburst, landslide which have been occurring in various places at regular intervals causing irreparable damage to lives and properties of the victims who are mostly caught unaware by such occurrences like the incident of tsunami occurred on 26th December, 2004.

Lakhs of helpless poor people in the states viz., Arunachal Pradesh, Assam, Bihar, West Bengal and others are badly affected by floods. A very large number of people in various other States often suffer due to earthquake, cloudburst, landslide, cyclone and other natural calamities, by way of destruction of their dwelling units and other properties. Such calamities pose a threat to their livestock and often result in loss of life. For instance, coastal areas of the country particularly Andhra Pradesh, Orissa and Tamil Nadu are frequently affected by cyclones causing widespread devastation of crops, properties and lives. Although the concerned State Governments do try to mitigate the sufferings of the affected people but due to financial constraints they can seldom provide adequate relief to them. Traditionally, there have always remained a big gap between the demands made by the affected States and the relief given by the Central Government.

Since the assistance provided by the Central Government is the main source on which the State Governments depend for providing relief to the persons affected by incidents of natural calamities, it is felt that the Central Government should bear the entire burden in this regard. Therefore, it is proposed that financial relief to the victims of natural calamities should be paid by the Central Government through a Commissioner.

Hence this Bill.

S. S. AHLUWALIA

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

Clause 3 of the Bill provides for provision of dwelling unit in case of destruction of house and property. Clause 4 provides for financial relief for loss of livestock. Clause 5 provides for financial relief in case of death. Clause 6 provides for suitable job to eligible dependents of victims of natural calamities. Clause 8 provides for appointment of Commissioner for settling the claims. Therefore, the Bill, if enacted will involve expenditure from the Consolidated Fund of India. It is estimated that a sum of rupees one thousand crores will be required for the purpose from the Consolidated Fund of India per annum as recurring expenditure. However, this may not be required if there is no such natural calamity in a particular year.

A non-recurring expenditure of rupees fifty crores is also likely to be incurred.

MEMORANDUM REGARDING DELEGATED LEGISLATION

Clause 9 of the Bill empowers the Central Government to make rules for carrying out the purposes of the Bill. As the delegation of powers relates to routine matters only, it is of normal character.

Power to make

6. The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules for carrying out the provisions of this Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Our country receives huge assistance and donations from foreign countries and various World Organisations from time to time to provide relief measures to people affected by natural calamities like earthquakes, floods, tsunami and other mishaps. However as the receipts are not credited into Consolidated Fund of India or any authorized Central Pool, the Government does not seek to have any effective control in regard thereto and there are occasions when the money was not utilized for the purposes for which it was received.

It is, therefore, desirable to create a Fund to take care of the donations so received and make statutory provisions for the regulation of the Fund. It will also be appropriate to subject the Fund so created to the audit control of the Comptroller and Auditor General of India.

The Bill seeks to achieve these objects.

(ii) shall have registration or license given to him, under any law for the time being in force, revoked.

5. This Act shall have effect notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary contained in any other law for the time being in force or any decree or judgement or order by any court or authority having judicial powers.Overriding effect of the Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

When an election takes place in the country it has been observed that various agencies start publishing pre-poll surveys about the victory or defeat of the candidate(s) or political parties on the completion of the first phase of the election itself. As a result, there is every possibility that the voters in other constituencies where elections are to be held, may get influenced especially because a majority of them are illiterate. Keeping this fact in view, the Election Commission, some years back, had put a ban on such surveys. However, the court struck it down and as a result thereof various agencies started publishing their pre-poll surveys again.

It is, therefore, proposed to enact a legislation so that the voters are not influenced by these surveys and the forecast of election results in one area do not influence or vitiated voting pattern or affect the election results.

Hence this Bill.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Camera phones are increasingly being used for capturing intimate and private images especially of women, which in turn, at times, are used to embarrass or harass them. The unbridled use of camera phones in a society like ours is a ticking bomb in the hand of the user. Of late, there has been a sudden increase in the episodes of capturing video of innocent girls and film celebrities in intimate position. As of now there is no restriction on any person possessing a camera phone and taking pictures in any public place or transport without the consent and knowledge of the other person since these camera phones do not make any sound or flash while taking picture. It is the responsibility of the Government to protect the society from the technology menace. Many countries have imposed various kinds of restriction on the use of camera phones. Saudi Arabia has taken an extreme step of banning the camera phone altogether. United States Congress has already passed a video Voyeurism Prevention Act that prohibits the photography of various parts of peoples' unclothes bodies or undergarments without consent. There is a right to privacy to every person in the country, which should not be taken away. Violation of privacy through technology should be severely punished. To minimise the incidents, only such camera phones should be allowed in the country which make sound of certain decibel or flash light while taking pictures or video recording.

Today, it has become a fashion among students to carry the latest and hi-tech camera phone. One fails to understand why these students studying in schools at all need a mobile phone or a camera phone. Parents of students, without judging the need, allow their wards to carry camera phone, which needs to be discouraged.

Therefore, it is high time that a law on the regulation of the use of camera phone be put in place to save the society from embarrassment.

Hence this Bill.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

There are millions of beggars begging in public places like markets, bus stops, outside and within railway stations, roadside, in the streets and residential colonies, outside the religious places like temples, mosques, churches, gurudwaras, etc. schools, parks, in the moving buses, trains, etc. and more so in the urban areas. The beggars are seen lurking and forcing even foreign tourists to give alms. Such unwarranted acts of beggars not only leave bad impression in the minds of foreign visitors but also bring dishonour to the name of our nation. Unfortunately, the menace of begging continues unabated throughout the country especially in the urban areas and places of tourist importance. Not only the physically handicapped, deprived and destitute persons resort to begging for sustenance but able bodied persons too take to begging as a regular occupation. There are organized gangs who kidnap children, maim them, deform some parts of their bodies and force the children into begging and collect huge amounts. Lactating infants are often used for begging. Sometimes, the children are forced to beg even by their own parents.

In order to root out the menace of begging, a national perspective has to be created by developing an infrastructure to tackle begging not only through legislative measure but also socially creating an environment of accommodation and acceptance of beggars in the society and to assure them a life with dignity. So an atmosphere has to be created so that beggars are provided with sufficient means of livelihood by the Government. Prohibition of begging has to go along with programmes for education, training and rehabilitation of children, women and men engaged in begging.

Hence this Bill.

Non-recurring expenditure to the tune of rupees two hundred crore may also involve from the Consolidated Fund of India.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

These days there is a growing tendency to celebrate marriages with pomp and show for which even heavy loans on very high rate of interest are taken. People who have the money or even those who do not have, spend lavishly on such celebrations. Millions of rupees are spent on decorated Shamianas followed by sumptuous feasts with musical groups performing in the backdrop and Veejay doing the anchoring. Sometimes thousands of baraatis attend the Ceremony. In addition to all these things, substantial cash and costly gifts are exchanged. Many people use this occasion to spend their black money. This, in fact, has become a craze in the society and the poor people who cannot afford to arrange the money have to do this after borrowing, if they have to marry their children. Naturally, this is creating unrest among those who have no money to spend lavishly on such occasion. So, either they have to become indebted or the adopt corrupt practices or illegal means to earn more and more money. It is very harmful for a developing nation like ours. Unfortunately, this is also a fact that even after spending lavishly many marriages remain unsuccessful. This tendency has to be checked by curtailing wasteful expenditure on an auspicious occasion like marriage.

Hence this Bill.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

In our country lakhs of marriages are solemnised every year. Most of them are solemnised as per the traditions, many marriages are solemnised in temples like Arya Samaj Mandir and a small proportion of marriages are also performed in courts. But except the marriages which are performed in civil courts and Arya Samaj Mandirs, there is no record of marriages performed in the country. The media has been reporting from time to time that non-resident Indian grooms, many of them already married abroad, come to this country, marry unsuspecting innocent Indian girls and return back to foreign countries after the honeymoon is over with the dowry money assuring the bride that they will send the requisite visa from abroad and call them very soon, a promise never fulfilled. The dumping of wives by NRIs has become a routine, which needs to be checked. Then there are people who are poverty stricken, take money from foreigners, sell off their daughters in the garb of marriages who are ultimately dumped and deserted. In many areas of the country child marriages are performed without bothering about the law and there is no check on such marriages. Such cases are increasing due to non-registration of marriages. Hence it has become necessary to register compulsorily all marriages which are solemnised in the country in whatever form such marriages are performed. This will prevent child marriages, desertion by NRIs, and check the subsequent marriages which are performed without dissolution of earlier marriages and save the women from being deserted and harassed.

Hence this Bill.
